Cozumel Port Information

Cozumel, Mexico is an invigorating port of call on a Caribbean Cruise vacation. An island and a city off the eastern coast of Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula, Cozumel is known for some of the world's healthiest coral reefs and rarest natural recreation. This island in the Caribbean Sea is an extremely popular destination for scuba-diving and snorkeling enthusiasts.

The Mayans considered the site sacred to the Moon Goddess, Ixchel, and women would make regular pilgrimages there to pay tribute and to wish for fertility in return.

The arrival of the Spanish in 1518 brought disease and devastation, nearly wiping out the Mayans and leaving the island all but deserted by 1570. It was an outpost for pirates until 1848, when warfare in the Yucatan drove refugees to settle there. A boom in visitors to the island came after 1959, when the famed Jacques Cousteau publicized Cozumel's coral reefs as among the best in the world for scuba diving.

Today, Guests can let their imaginations take flight in the island the Mayans named Cozumel—the "Island of the Swallows"—so long ago.

Dear Guests:

We are glad you have joined us this cruise and hope you are having an enjoyable sailing.

Tonight is our exciting Buccaneer Blast and we hope you'll join us Midship on Deck 11 and 12 to experience this one-of-a-kind celebration at sea. Due to the use of pyrotechnics during the show along the starboard side of the ship, we ask that you observe these simple verandah safety measures prior to your departure from your stateroom this evening.

- Remove all personal belongings (towels, clothes and any other items) that may be blown overboard or present a fire hazard if left unattended
- Make certain the verandah door is closed

Should you remain in your stateroom during the deck party, we ask that you stay indoors throughout the fireworks presentation with your verandah door closed. These simple measures will assist in making your cruise experience safe for everyone.

Additional information on the Buccaneer Blast and all the other onboard activities is available in the Personal Navigator.

Again, we're truly glad to have you onboard this cruise and hope that you'll join us on deck and get into the swashbuckling spirit.

Sincerely,

Chief Officer Safety

An Overview of Cozumel

Cozumel is 33 miles long and 11 miles wide. It is the largest island in the Republic of Mexico. Twelve miles to the west is the mainland of Mexico, separated by a channel that is 3,000 feet deep. The Mayans have lived on Cozumel since 300 AD, and are most noted for their complex systems of mathematics, astrology and prolific city building. Cozumel was a trading center and was in contact with regions as far north as Veracruz and as far south as Honduras.

Shop for traditional handicrafts and duty free jewelry and dine in seaside restaurants seasoned with friendly local Cozumel residents. This, with lasting impressions and splashed with romantic cocktails, will leave you wanting more. This island is a refreshing getaway from the metropolitan cities. Cozumel is considered the "crown jewel" of the Mexican-Caribbean. Powdery white sands, crystal clear waters, protected environments and snorkeling or scuba diving among schools of fish is a playground away from industrial society. Cozumel is a true Mexican paradise, and receives more cruise ship guests annually than St. Thomas.

Cozumel is part of the Central Standard time zone (one hour earlier than Eastern). The language spoken there is Spanish, but almost everyone speaks some English. San Miguel is the only town on the island where cruise ships visit.

Docking/Anchorage: The ship can dock in one of three pier locations: Punta Langosta (downtown), International Pier or Puerta Maya Pier.

RESTRICTIONS ON U.S. CURRENCY TRANSACTIONS IN MEXICO

In September of 2010, the Mexican government enacted a law limiting the amount of U.S. dollars a Mexican business or individual may deposit into their bank account. Because of this limitation, some of the recommended stores in port may restrict the amount of U.S. dollars they will accept in settlement of your purchases. Please remember to take your credit card into port so that you may be able to take advantage of all the bargains these stores have to offer.
